Aftermath of the slush bowl.

Last year it was the mud bowl, this year the slush bowl. Maybe next year we'll have a day of sunshine for our Church parade.

In connection with it all, we heard this little story. One of the Commerce lads we know was chosen a lance-corporal last week, and received the four duly authorized stripes—one for each arm of his tunic and great-coat. The proud N.C.O. toddled home feeling that his station in life had been elevated, and asked his mother to sew one hook on each of his sleeves.

"Well, well," remarked the good woman in all seriousness, "so they're giving you 'V's for victory."

The poor lad didn't have the heart to disillusion his mater.

Skiing, Sheeing, etc.

The McGill Outing Club has its first general meeting of the year coming up this Thursday in the Union, and it should turn out to be a jolly affair. With snow (O.K. slush, if you insist) already on the ground, many of the guys and gals are starting to take the hickories out of the cellar and prepare them for active service. The movies of action skiing to be shown Thursday evening should make the folks even more anxious to start the hibernal activity, and get going on those Outing Club tours. The festivities will conclude with jivin', jammin' and all other forms of terpsichorean activity.

Ice Chips. . . . .

We were glad to see the hockey teams arranged as was the football set-up this fall, rather than on a company basis. It is true that a great deal of company esprit de corps will be lost, but the setting up of evenly matched teams is of primary importance, and was the guiding light in the formation of the new set-up.

Last year, about the only spectators the lads had were the kids who hang around the Forum, and the poor guy drafted by the Sports Editor to cover the game for the Daily. This year probably won't be any different, as the noon hour playing time is tough enough on ## March of Dimes Started At Toronto to Aid I.S.S.

On Wednesday, December 3rd, the Students of the University of Toronto will stage their long-awaited March of Dimes campaign, in which they hope to raise almost a thousand dollars for the International Student Service. The dimes will be laid down in a silver line, 380 feet long along the sidewalk behind the old observatory building facing Hart House.

In order to encourage contributions a great display of University talent is planned along the line, including a musical selection by the University brass band.

This drive, which was originally planned by the victory club, is now being sponsored by the Students' Administrative Council, which is now busily engaged in organizing some system of guarding the coins and of keeping them in place.

Americans Will Oppose McGill

NYU Debate Scheduled for Thursday Night

Another intercollegiate international debate is scheduled to take place this week, to be the second in the series begun two weeks ago by the McGill-Middlebury Debate. On Thursday evening, a debating team from New York University will contend with McGill on the subject, "Resolved, that the United States should immediately declare war against Germany."

The McGill team will uphold the affirmative of the question against the negative of the N.Y.U. team. The McGill defenders will be Don Dlevin, who is the secretary of the Political Economy Club, and Alex Stalker, retired president of the McGill Debating Union Society. The names of the three judges of the debate, and the chairman have not yet been announced, but the arrangements will be made public in the near future. The debate will be held in R.V.C., and members of the Red Wing Society will act as ushers. Because of the importance

Prom to Have Largest Band Ever in Gym

Tickets Sell Fast While Price Is Low

The largest dance band ever to appear in the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium will provide the music for the Junior Prom when Blake Sewell plays there on Friday, December 5. Estimates of ticket sales to date reveal that the volume was far beyond expectations, and it was predicted by the Prom committee that if the present rate is continued, there will not be any left by the time the price changes from four dollars to five, which will be during December 3 and 4.

The committee cautions those arranging tables for parties to be sure that there is no duplication, because last year several cases occurred where more than one person made arrangements for the same party, causing confusion at the dance. They urge students to make up their parties as soon as possible since they will be able to accommodate them more satisfactorily in that way.

Parades Cancelled

Attention has been given to military schedules, parades for both C.O.T.C. and M.R.T.B. having been cancelled, and a special leave has been arranged with the Commanding Officer of the McGill Detachment, R.C.A.F., whereby airmen attending the prom may stay out till four o'clock. Since the committee decided to play the part of host to the men in blue on the campus, a reduction changed the price of tickets for the airforce to three

Red Cross Corps Uniforms on Way

Eighty Coeds Will Soon Sport Smart Outfits

It won't be long now until the grey and scarlet uniform of the cadets of the Red Cross Corps is a familiar sight on the McGill campus. the members of the University Training Detachment, while waiting for their uniforms, have had a little time to learn something of the things for which that uniform stands, but perhaps others on the Campus would be interested in knowing more about it.

The grey uniform itself is the "undress" uniform of the all composite sections of the Corps (i.e. those that combine training for transport, nursing auxiliary, office administration and food administration service). The forage cap is worn by all members of the Training Detachments in Canadian Uni-

Coeds Hear Miss Hasell Speak of Western Canada

Yesterday at noon, Miss E. Hasell, M.B.E., spoke to the coeds at R.V.C. concerning her missionary work in Canada's Northwest. Using coloured lantern slides made by herself and her companion, Miss Iris Sayle, Miss Hasell told of some of her experiences during the past summer.

After the last war, Miss Hasell came over to Canada as a missionary. Since that time she has been doing Sunday-School work by caravan among the sparsely populated districts of northern Ontario, Alberta, and British Columbia. In her talk, Miss Hasell described the beautiful country of the north, and contrasted it with the poverty of the people who live there. The volunteers who work under her carry on in all sorts of weather, braving the hazards of poor roads, which become virtual quagmires when it rains. Miss Hasell concluded with an appeal for more workers, saying that at least eighteen were needed for next summer.

J. Culliton to Address 1st Commerce Luncheon

Professor Culliton will address the School of Commerce today at a luncheon to be held at 1:00 p.m. in the Union Grill Room. His topic will be "The Economic Paradox of the New World Plan." Several other professors will be present as guests of the Commerce Undergraduate Society.

In order that the students will know whom they are going to vote for in the coming elections, Students' Executive Council and Scarlet Key nominees will be introduced.

After the luncheon there will be a tour of inspection of the firm of William Thomas, Ltd. for those students interested. A representative of the firm will give a short outline of the tour, during the luncheon.

Tickets may be obtained from all class presidents.

Arts & Science Sit Tomorrow

Constitution and Business Are on Meet's Agenda

The Arts and Science Undergraduate Society will hold a special meeting in the Arts Smoking Room tomorrow afternoon at 5.00 p.m.

Business and plans for the future will be discussed. It was proposed last year to revise and digest the old unratified constitution and a committee with Tom Waiman-Wood as chairman was set up to accomplish this aim. They have prepared a new constitution which will be ratified at this meeting.

A copy with the proposed changes will be posted on the Notice Board in the Arts Building for the next few days, so that students can come to the meeting with a knowledge of the Constitution.

An announcement will be made of the contributions to various campus societies and clubs. Tom Mulligan, the president, announced that the meeting will be asked to approve a forthcoming visit to a Brewery, and stated that it also planned to bring up a proposal to buy a trophy for the Arts-Engineers fight. There is a project he said to challenge the Engineers, who claim to be able to demolish forty beers, to uphold this claim in the forthcoming smoker, against members of the Arts and Science Faculty.

All suggestions for this smoker, which it is proposed, will be held before the Smoker-Dance in January just after the mid-term, will be welcomed. It is hoped by the executive that more Artsmen will turn up than has been the custom in the past.

Glee Clubs

All members of the R.V.C. and McGill Glee Clubs are requested to attend the first combined practice this afternoon at 5:15 in the Ballroom of the McGill Union.

NOMINATIONS DUE TODAY FOR 49 CAMPUS POSITIONS

Red Wings Seek Representatives

Deadline for Nominees at 2.30 Today

All R.V.C. and M.S.P.E. nominations for representatives in the Red Wing Society must be received in Miss Heasley's office in the Union before 2.30 this afternoon. No names handed in after that time will be accepted for the elections, which will be held in the near future.

Each of the first three years of R.V.C. is to have two positions in the Red Wing, and there is one position for the M.S.P.E. In the case of the R.V.C. positions, one representing each class must be held by a resident student.

The nominations for the R.V.C. positions must be signed by at least fifteen members of the M.W.S.A.A., and those for the M.S.P.E., by five members of the School of Physical Education.

Attention is called to qualifications necessary for the nominees. They must all be students in good scholastic standing, and must have no conditions of any kind in their classes.

Each person elected to the Red Wing Society holds the office for two years, and upon retiring receives a white blazer. During the period of active membership, she assists in ushering at University functons, and, in co-operation with the Scarlet Key Society, in being of service to visitors to the University.

Toronto Club Hears Principal

James Speaks On Price and Wage Control

Dr. F. Cyril James, Principal of McGill University, gave the address yesterday at a luncheon meeting of The Advertising and Sales Club of Toronto, Inc. The meeting was held in the Royal York Hotel, Toronto.

The topic of Dr. James' address was "The Control of Prices and Wages—A Canadian Experiment." Dr. James listed three problems as necessitating the control of prices and wages: the problem of reducing civilian consumption of goods and services, so that the government may utilize as much of the national output as possible; the establishment of proper priority over consumption of materials vital to the war effort; and the question of find-

Players' Club Stars Rehearse For "Out of the Frying Pan"

by LUIGI

If anyone walked into the R.V.C. reading room any Tuesday, Thursday or Friday afternoon around 5 p.m. they would find the thespians of the Players' Club in varied disarray. For this is the rehearsal of the forthcoming production of "Out of the Frying Pan," written by Francis Swann and directed by John Mellor.

The actors have been going through their lines for the past few weeks, and director Mellor has a unique method of making them learn them. He insists that they learn them the first week, and then hand in their scripts. If they do not know them when the act is run through sans script, they are likely to make complete fools of themselves. So far the method has worked like a charm.

Every afternoon of rehearsal the brawny male members of the cast start casting around the furniture to set the stage. If there happens to be any females in the reading room while this is going on they think bedlam has broken loose, pick up their books, and run.

After everyone has settled down, the cast gets ready for work, under the dynamic direction of John (How would you do it) Mellor. The story concerns the antics of six typical young American boys and girls, who are trying to get a theatrical position on the stage in New York. They include Dotty, a young, not too bright girl from Boston played by Jackie Darsey; Kate, played by Pam Holt, a cynical young girl, who has had more than her share of hard knocks on Broadway; Marge, an attractive theatre aspirant, played by Bunnie Burke; Muriel, Kay Babbitt, a young firend of Dotty's, and Mrs. Garnet, the landlady, played by Kina Mitchell.

The male members of the cast include Bill Whittaker as Tony, the love interest; Roy Wolvin as George; John Averill as Norman, the leader of the group; Dick Groom as Mr. Coburn, Dotty's father; Stan Eidinger as Mr. Kenny, the theatrical producer and two policemen played by Hugh Scott and Al Fraser.

More Nominees Needed for Students' Executive Council

After 2.30 this afternoon, no more nominations for representatives on the Students' Executive Council will be received. Mr. Gordon H. Fletcher, the secretary of the Students' Society, will receive nominations in his office in the Union until that time.

Nominations must be in writing, and must be signed by at least ten undergraduates of the same faculty. Only one representative can be elected to the Council from each of the undergraduate faculties, and only Third Year students are eligible for nomination.

The representative of R.V.C. is,

Message from President

From the accompany news story all are quite likely aware of the situation as regards nominations to the Students' Council. With the deadline set for 2.30 p.m. today, only one nomination has yet been received. Surely this speaks poorly for student interest in their own government. There are countless essential tasks to be performed by the elected representative of the students and it is essential that good men and women be chosen to perform them. We who are expected to take leadership in the nation after graduation are beginning on the wrong foot if we neglect our own affairs here and now on the campus.

This condition can and must be rectified if student government is to survive and we can begin to rectify it by immediately nominating a number of good representatives—students who are unbiased and willing to work.

GLENN K. COWAN,
President, Students' Council.

Dents to Hold Forth at 'Mouth Maulers' Brawl'

Will Dance in Union Grillroom On Saturday

By Colle

As some of you undoubtedly are aware, there stands directly north-west of the Biological Building, a large stone edifice known as the Medical Building. Just why this misnomer has been applied to the home of the Dentists (long may they reign) is a mystery to all thinking beings, since they are by far the most learned, sociable and personable gents in the building.

Now the time has come for then Dents to put aside their cheerfully buzzing drills, roll up the rugs and let the rest of the campus know of their existence. Thus the joyful word that the lads up the hill are sponsoring 'The Mouth Maulers Brawl' will undoubtedly be received with much hand-clapping in the lower part of the campus, and the huzzas will swell to a mighty chorus when it is known that the 'Brawl' (merely a name, girls—the Dents, of course are above that sort of thing) is open to all McGillians.

The great event is to be held this Saturday evening in the cozy atmosphere of the Union Grill Room, so drop in around 8.30 and enjoy yourself. Tickets won't be more than 75 cents, and can be obtained from the Union tuck shop or any Dental student.

Naval Surgeon to Address Combined Medical Meeting

A combined meeting of the Montreal Neurological Society, the Montreal Medico-Chirurgical Society, and the Medical Undergraduates Society will be addressed by Surgeon Rear-Admiral Gordon Gordon-Taylor, Royal Navy, next Tuesday evening at 8.15 p.m. in the Medical Building.

Surgeon Rear-Admiral Gordon-Taylor is at present engaged in a lecture tour of the United States and Canada His subject at this meeting, sponsored by the Montreal Neurological Society, will be "Some Aspects of the Surgery of Modern Warfare."

Plan to Aid Med Students To Be Studied in Ottawa

The Dominion Government in Ottawa is now considering a plan to give financial aid to any medical students who, upon graduation, intend to become army doctors. This plan was announced yesterday by Brig. R. M. Gorssline, director-general of medical services of National Defence.

This scheme, which was brought into the public eye by a reporter that 100 students of the University of Toronto are in immediate need of aid, is expected to find favor owing to the increasing need for more medical personnel for Canada's ever-expanding army.

Club Features Blindfold Chess

Deadline Is Set For Entrance to Club Tournament

The McGill Chess Club is holding a meeting tomorrow evening at 8 p.m. in the Union Reading Room. As the main feature of the evening, Joe Rauch will play several regular and one blindfold chess games simultaneously. The draw for the first round of the club tournament will also be announced, so all members who wish to enter this tournament are requested to leave their names at the Union Tuck Shop not later than 5 p.m. tomorrow.

This simultaneous and blindfold display will be of particular interest to chess players, since Joe Rauch, having defeated all but one of his opponents in a previous sim-

Scarlet Key Offers Positions

Signature of Ten Students Required

The secretary of the Students' Society will receive nominations to the Scarlet Key Society which are handed to him in his office in the Union before the 2.30 deadline this afternoon.

There are two main groups of nominations. In the first group belong nominees from the Third Year in each undergraduate faculty, except Law, from which faculty a Second Year nomination is accepted. The second group consists of Second Year nominees from all faculties.

Each of the nominations must be signed by at least ten members of the same faculty as the nominee. Only students who are in good scholastic standing, and who are neither repeating a year nor conditioned, are eligible for nomination.

The Scarlet Key Society, organised in the 1925-26 session, is in charge of all ushering at University functions, including sports activities at the Molson Stadium. Its general object is to be of service to visitors to McGill University, and by co-operating with the managers of the different clubs, the Society has already established a tradition of efficiency and courtesy.

The membership of the Society is about thirty-five, and the majority of these are elected by popular vote at elections such as will be held in the near future when the present nominations will be voted upon.

Keys Elected to MacDonald Chair

Succeeds King to Post in Physics Department

Professor David A. Keyes has been appointed to the Macdonald Chair of Physics. He succeeds Dr. L. V. King who vacated the post three years ago.

The Chair is one of the two W. C. Macdonald endowed in 1893, when the present Physics Building was erected. Originally the two Macdonald Chairs were to be occupied by the Chairman of the Department of Physics and one other professor, but in 1935 the Board of Governors elected a third professor to the department.

At present the three professors are Dr. A. N. Shaw, Head of the Department and Director of the Building and Doctors Foster and Keys, Macdonald Professors of Physics. The Macdonald posts have in the past been occupied by such prominent physicists as J. Cox, H. L. Callendar, Sir E. Rutherford, H. T. Barnes, H. A. Wilson, A. S. Eve and L. V. King. Generally one Macdonald Professor is engaged primarily in research work while the other spends most of his time with lectures and administration.

The appointment of Professor Keys as Macdonald Professor follows a long and brilliant career as a physicist.

He was born in Toronto, Ontario, son of Professor Reid Keys, of the

Good Old Days

Today is the last day on which nominations for the positions of faculty representatives to the Students' Council may be handed in; only one nomination for any post had been turned in at five o'clock yesterday.

This supports a suspicion we have had for a couple of weeks that the students are gradually returning to the good old days of student apathy. Results of the Charities Campaign, the Volunteer Registration —and now this near fiasco—all show the effect.

There have been a multiude of opportunities this year for new campus leaders to show themselves, and many students have evidenced such capacity for leadership. There can be no question that men for the jobs cannot be found—apparently the students are not concerned with making any choice of candidates for these most important positions.

In these times the importance of a good Students' Council can' hardly be overlooked. The Council, which is the body which controls most of the students activities, cannot afford now to become slack in its efforts. The affairs of the students have always been run fairly successfully and profitably, and the continuance of student government must necessarily depend on the continuance of that success.

The failure to nominate for these posts shows a remarkable lack of interest and foresight on the part of the students. If students do not realize that it took determination and work to build up a true student government at McGill—if they do not realize that they have a responsibility in the maintenance of that self-government; they well deserve to lose it.

No reasonable excuses are available—nomination notices have been appearing for well over a week—the men are available—and where are the nominations? . . . Missing.

Strangely enough, numerous names have been received for the honorary societies. Granted that the latter are important; the student council posts are more so. Must we draw the conclusion that student interest varies inversely as the significance of the issue?

McGill has reason to be proud this year of the activity and interest that has been shown in student affairs—a definite improvement over former years. Let's keep it up, and remember that "an election by acclamation is often not so much a compliment to the man as a shame on the citizenship of the electors."

The students who are nominated for the Council may have different ideas—it is for the students to decide whom they shall support. But each and every one of them should be able and willing to take responsibility, ready to do a little work, and conscious of the importance of the Council in student affairs.

Nominations must be in by 2.30 p.m. today.

Random Reading

THE COSMOLOGICAL EYE. By Henry Miller. Published by New Directions, Norfolk, Conn., 1939; 363 pp.

There is a tremendous self consciousness about these essays by Henry Miller. He writes with a dominant aspect of the "I" in every passage. His vigorous emotional life permeates every phase of his approach to philosophy, art, music, and sex. His audience is not that of the mass of the readers in the world; it is neither the critic or his friend or his lover. He writes to himself for himself. For he did not attain recognition after many years of heart break and struggle. And so he turned in upon himself and poured forth a scorn upon mankind, the height of which reaches no bounds.

The few essays devoted to pornography delineate the character of the self conscious artist who is circumscribed by an environment that is unconsciously limited. It is true that there is a wealth of material to be drawn from the archives of personal living, learning and experiencing. But merely to leave the creative at the personal real as opposed to the personal fictive omits an entire world which is the other man's view point. And it is just this other man's view point (the opinion of the rest of the world), that the artist must face.

Miller glosses over this opinion, he disdains it. But even in his abstract "I" he unconsciously writes for it. He is his own critic. There is no standard but his own, but his own is a wish fulfilment. His will to fame has left him not oblivious to the literary critic, but hypersensitive to that critic. By daring to write about sex in fullest detail, this man, who rebelled against the world as an anarchist, knew that the sedate critics of the metropolitan dailies would tear him apart. However unconscious this might have been on his part it has limited his creative ability to an overemphasis of sex.

This in itself is a reaction against the repression of sex by our Western Civilization. Today Henry Miller has received recognition to say the culturally brutal with succinct grace. But if he is to attain the full measure of his destiny as a creative artist he must turn from a world of the ego in which he emphasizes his purely personal life to that of a broad imaginative other man's world. —B.G.

Nominees Required

Today is the deadline for nominations for the R.V.C. representative to the Students' Executive Council and for the Red Wing Society. Several nominees for each office are necessary for a truly democratic and interesting election, but so far scarcely more than one co-ed has been named to each post. Appointments by acclamation are a dismaying sign of apathy. It is not too late to nominate your choice now.

The Council nominees must be third year students, and the co-ed elected will represent R.V.C. for a year from January first. The Red Wing Society is composed of twelve members, and in this twelve there must always be students from each year of the Faculty of Arts and Science, students in residence in the Royal Victoria College, and a student from the McGill School of Physical Education.

The Society was organized and financed by the M.W.S.A.A. in the session ending 1937-38 and became active in the session 1938-39. The purpose of this Society is to provide for the welfare and entertainment of visitors of the Association and to help in the organization of any college activity. Its first members were appointed by the Women's Athletic Council, but membership has since been by election. The Society has two honorary members: the president of the M.W.S.A.A. and the R.V.C. House President.

Corps Comments:

Mrs. Tyrrell, Commandant of the McGill Detachment of the C.R.C.C., pointed out several interesting facts about the unit. True to Red Cross traditions, the Detachment at McGill includes students of many nationalities and creeds, British, Polish, Free French, American; Roman Catholic, Protestant and Hebrew. There are four members of the Detachment who have husbands on service overseas. Several members have experienced bombings or invasion, and several are war guests from the British Isles. This sense of seriousness is increased by the fact that Captain Brown, Commanding Officer of the M.R.T.B., has felt it worth while to give the military lectures and conduct the drill periods himself. The McGill Detachment, started in October 1924, was the second to be formed in Canada, the University of Toronto having organized theirs a year earlier.

For further points of interest about the Detachment listen to next week's "Carry on Canada" program.

It's Not for Knowledge. . . .

Many R.V.C.-ites were seen in Saturday's Santa Claus parade skipping along as ski-girls, monkeys, clowns, and even wooly Zulus, and those not in the parade lined the route to watch them. One diligent soph turned up to her class to find it completely deserted with a notice on the board to the effect that "Prof. —— has cancelled his class for the benefit of those who wish to watch the Santa Claus Parade."

The Good Old Days

The local head of the R.C.M.P. thinks that this generation of students does not have as much fun as their predecessors, and tells many amusing tales to prove his point.

It seems that when he was at the University of Montreal in the first decade of the century brass bands were in the habit of touring Montreal in open trolley cars to entertain the good citizens of the city. One fine fall evening when a favourite band reached the corner of Saint Catherine and Saint Denis Streets it was surrounded by 500 U. of M. students, who sat down on camp stools and refused to budge until they had heard all their favourite melodies. For one hour traffic was at a standstill at one of the city's busiest intersections. The police fumed and threatened but were helpless—the students were quite comfortable on their little stools as they listened to the selections with great gusto. Came the blow—a $500 fine, but undaunted the wags paid it all in pennies (seems that the Mile of Pennies is not such a modern idea after all). The Clerk of the Court counted it three times and nearly went mad before he finally gave up in despair and annuonced that approximately $500 had been paid. Since then, chuckled the Inspector as he concluded his tale, there has been a law to the effect that pennies will not be accepted as legal tender in the payment of a fine.

Military Problems

The women who are helping Britain's war effort are making many sacrifices, but they demand the right to be glamorous. So the High Command has had to face such problems as distributing lipstick, stream-lining uniform skirts, and dealing with women majors who wear captain's insignia because they are prettier. Most women officers prefer to be captains. They were three shining gold "pips" on the shoulder, while a major wears only one dark-coloured crown.

Ski Fashions

by

Julia Campi

Although it is a little early to know exactly what the well-dressed skier will be wearing this year, we feel that we are safe in making a few predictions when we visit some of the down-town stores. Last Saturday we plowed through a thick layer of McGill boys in two stores to interview the managers, and besides a good-looking law student this is what we found.

Beyond all doubt, colour is the key-note in this year's ski wardrobe . . . colourful mits, hats, belts, shirts, sweaters and socks. Here's a rough list of must-haves. Check your wardrobe against it. A pair of mits, either leather or wool with embroidery; a cap that looks like a bonnet with red, white and blue, orange and green or purple and yellow strings to be tied under your chin; socks that look like you have been wading in blood; a belt whose decorations were done by a surrealist on the morning after; and a ski suite that suggests an incomprehensible mood of sanity (i.e. a sensible water-proof cotton suit). But all kidding aside, this year's ski outfits are really smart.

One of the new things we discovered that really promises to be something are adorable little purses that you can attach to your belts for carrying those little necessities against the wind and snow. They are pretty and practical, so be sure to have a look at them when you are ski-shopping.

Something else which really appealed to us was the wide stock of after-ski boots that the stores were carrying. Believe you us, there is no need for cold toesies when you can change into smart boots lined with soft lamb's wool, cute little moccasins of natural seal skin with tricky turned-up toes and a sort of mit for the foot that will make you feel like an Alpine ballet dancer.

Ski shirts promise to be as popular as ever, with plain colours leading, and polka dots setting a new fad. We did not find many plaid shirts for girls but they will probably still be worn by last year's crop of skieres. Vests are common, too. But do not wear them unless your figure can stand attention. Instructor pants are as good a bet as they were last year.

And to depart from actual fashions, we would like to tell you about some new ski boots we found. They are really something super. They have rubber soles to keep you from slipping when you are tramping across ice and snow, and a combination ankle and instep strap to give you support for down-hill work, and a reinforced double lacing to . . . well, we have forgotten exactly what that was for but anyhow, altogether the boots had more features than a 1942 automobile.

Most of the down-town stores have their ski departments open already, so pay them a visit sometime soon. You'll get plenty of ideas and enthusiasm to attack the pater with a list of what you want for Xmas. You might even try writing Santa Claus and leaving the letter around provided you (1) have not tried it before, (2) your parents do not read this column, and (3) your parents do not believe in Santa Claus. Good luck, anyhow.

U. N. B. REMEMBERS

Tonight, a quiet campus dreams
And all is under age-old guards
Of peaceful stars and moon and breeze.
Below, the dark of shadowed stream
Reveals a sash of silver moon—
To rival gleams from cosy homes.
The sweeping elms are whispering
As though they, too, desired and yearned
To dance and laugh and reminisce.
Perhaps, tonight, one speaks of you
Who, gay and carefree in your youth,
Felt life too short too satisfy.
But that strange fate that took your life
Cared not for you nor your desires:
So pledged you as a pawn to Mars.
Perhaps, another speaks of you,
As one who found your heart's delight
In serving Man and God and Right.
With this belief, our hearts declare:
That U.N.B. is proud of you,
Who added honor to her name.

—BRUNSWICKIAN.

Old Filings

(From the Daily, November 19, 1921)

IF

A little word is IF, but of much significance: how many joys and sorrows, lights and shadows, hopes and fears, triumphs and despairs, have been affected by that word—"where the frail hair-breadth of an IF is all that sunders life and death." IF Alexander the Great had not died of fever, the result of excessive living, Greece would have mastered the world; IF Julius Caesar had not aspired to be a god, he would not have been stabbed; IF the simple teachings of the Master had been carried out, much of the world's tribulations would have been prevented, and we would be living today in peace and contentment; IF the Norman arrow had not penetrated Harold's eye, England would probably have remained Saxon. So down through the ages the effect of the little word is clearly shown.

IF is seldom other than weak and disastrous, and one cannot imagine it coming from a Cromwell, a Nelson, a Wellington, a Beatty, or a Currie. This century, perhaps more than any other, calls for men and women of foresight and of action. Life is more complex every day, with ever-increasing responsibilities. The word IF must be eradicated, and by hitting straight from the shoulder, results will be achieved hitherto considered impossible. The next generation must not say, "IF the Disarmament Conference of 1921 had succeeded we would now be living in peace." There is no place for IF on the campus or in the class-room, and we at McGill must recognize no word with such limitations.

IF can be conquered as Kipling shows us in one of his most inspiring poems, which concludes as follows:

"IF you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run,
Yours is the earth, and ev'ry thing that's in it,
And which is more, you'll be a man, my son."

(From the Daily, November 18, 1921)

PREPAREDNESS

It is noticeable in college life that, at any of the meetings, no matter how well attended, there are few persons present who are prepared to add anything to the discussion. This is true of gatherings of all kinds, Students' Society meetings, sectional clubs, athletic meetings, or clubs connected with college courses.

This being the case, and admittedly an important state of affairs, it would be worth while to examine the causes, with a view to improving it. Does the solution for improvement lie in a different attitude on the part of the men attending the activities, greater forethought, more initiative; or is it the fault of those who are in charge of such affairs? There are no doubt other minor causes, the backwardness of some men, perhaps shyness, or nervousness, or lack of confidence, but it is safe to say that the most important reason is lack of preparedness.

This is not only the case at college functions, it is common in all walks of life. tI is told of a great English statesman, who was also a director of several large companies, that he always tried to be the best informed man at any directors' meeting. He was chosen director of so many companies, no doubt, because he was always prepared for discussion, and could be depended on to know more than other people.

Surely if this attitude were adopted by more men in college, we would have more useful organizations and a higher standard in all spheres of college life.

Preparedness, for us then, essentially consists in greater forethought, activity, and general interest, and more initiative. With these ends in view, let us try to take a more active part in our various college interests. Try a little more preparedness for the next meeting!

Short Story.

Student (in car, to sweet young thing): "Pardon me—er—but"

Sweet Young Thing: No, you've never met me at Crystal Beach, Waskesiu or Emma Lake. I wasn't in the Pullman car on the way to Edmonton for the Husky-Golden Bear game. I know I'm good looking and I'm not bashful. I'm not going your way, and I wouldn't ride with you on a bet. I didn't ever go to school with you; I'm not waiting for a street car; I don't want a lift, and I know plenty of Varsity boys. Furthermore, I'm waiting for a 220 pound fiance. Now, were you going to say something?"

Student (in car): "Yes, darn it; you're losing your underskirt."

Letter Forum

(Every letter to the editor must bear the signature of the sender as evidence of good faith, though anonymity will be respected if desired. Letters should be typewritten if possible.)

Editor, McGill Daily.

Dear Sir,—Through the medium of your column I would like to thank all those who nominated me to the position of president of the Debating Union Society for the balance of the session.

The ability of men and women to put their thoughts into words and present them fluently to an audience is of such fundamental importance, whether it be in business, profession, or in private society, that I consider societies which engage in debating and public speaking as the most important on the campus.

To acquire fluency, all that most of us need is practice; and it is this practice which I shall endeavor that every student shall have an unlimited opportunity to participate in through the medium of the Debating Union Society.

I remain,
Sincerely yours,
ERNEST SKUTEZKY,
B. Com. 42.

Annual Football Banquet Set for Thursday Night

Gridiron Teams Climax Season with Traditional Celebration

A highly successful football season will be brought to a close on Thursday night when the members of the four intramural teams will be tendered a banquet in the McGill Union Cafeteria at 6.30 p.m.

This annual banquet is the culmination of a rugged schedule which saw the Army squad emerge undefeated to succeed the Air Force as Intramural champions. As last year, there were not enough players to warrant an Inter-Company league, so the three Service teams were again organized, with the addition of a squad from MacDonald College. Although the Aggies failed to win a game, they put up a good fight all the way through the schedule.

Among the football personalities who will be present are Dr. Fred J. Tees, honourary president of the McGill Football Club, who will speak to the gathering. Coaches Doug Kerr, Frank Cloghessy, Buster Fletcher and Stu Smith will also be in attendance. Other guests are Mr. Parke, time keeper at the Stadium, trainer Harry Grimes, Athletics Manager Hay Finlay, and representatives of the press in the persons of Ralph Adams of the Daily Star, Dink Caroll of the Gazette, and Wayne Y. Corse of the Daily.

The playing season closed on November 15th, when the Army team turned back a strong threat of the Navy, after both teams had hurdled the Air Force into the finals, having left the Aggies far behind. The Air Force outfit did not measure up to expectations, and at no time did the flyers threaten to duplicate last years performance.

According to yesterday's poll to pick a McGill All-star team, strength seemed to be very evenly divided among at least three of the teams, but superior all-round ability plus a backfield which boasted of Earl Smith and Marriot brought the championship to the infantrymen. On paper, the Navy backfield looked very powerful, but many of their assaults did not materialize before the well-balanced Army line.

The price of admission has not been definitely determined, but it has been stated that the fee will be lower than last year. This includes, of course, abundant liquid refreshment. All players of the four teams will attend Thursday's function.

Points earned by individuals for their respective companies are being calculated and will be released tomorrow.

Red Shorts

by irene

Lady Luck was still with the co-ed archers last Saturday, when they defeated their friendly rivals from Ste. Anne's for the second time within a week. The score was by no means as high as it was when the Ste. Anne's team played hostesses to the girls in the red shorts; but maybe the reason was the forty yard line, which McGill did not have. It is certainly unfortunate that the signals got mixed for the Intercollegiate Telegraphic Meet, which was held on November 8, because we feel that our home team would have showed us just what it could really do.

The informal party at the Armoury proved a grand success last Saturday evening, and there has already been talk of holding another like it. Surprisingly enough there were more boys than girls—and somebody tried to tell us that most of the boys would be busy with the army, or just plain busy. We learned from the badminton manager that the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial gym would be available every Monday, Thursday and Saturday for mixed doubles.

The McGill coeds have again got a ski-house in Ste. Adele, and although we haven't seen it ourself, we have heard from reliable sources that it is very nice and cosy and not far from the Red Room,—so there should be no lonely evenings sitting in front of the fire toasting marshmallows, as there were a few years ago when it was a few miles from the village.

We can't kid ourselves any longer about the weather, so we think that it isn't too soon to start talking about hockey and skating. We haven't heard anything about the plans for the coed hockey schedule, but we are hoping that they intend to continue the old system of playing with the Engineers, and the Theologs, and this year they can even help to entertain the troops, by challenging the "Boys in Blue," and showing them what good sports Canadian girls are.

It seems rather funny, but we are now going back to the tennis final that was not played while the weather was warm. At last the officials have agreed on an indoor court, and if nothing happens to change the plans Barbara Mercer and Claire Renshaw will be able to decide who will win the tennis trophy, when they meet this Wednesday in the Indoor Tennis Club.

The other day we had a chance to watch the coeds in their gym period, and we thought that it was a shame that nobody could see just what the girls were doing for their War Training Program. We discussed it with a few other girls in the red shorts, and they thought it would be a swell idea to have another Gymkhana, and give the proceeds to the McGill War Fund.

Man coeds have signed the list in R.V.C. to play Squash, and it seems that it may develop into one of the popular sports at the University. It has taken quite a hold on the ladies in the other Athletic Clubs in the city, and the M.A.A.A. have gone in for the sport as they have for swimming. If the turnouts are as large in the future, the girls will probably be able to hold an informal evening like the badminton club.

This is a little out of our line but we just can't help telling about it to anyone who managed to wade through this column. Last Saturday one of our favourite professors came up to us and asked us if we had seen the Santa Claus parade,—we told him that we had, although we had to skip a lecture to do it. He laughed and said that he did better than that, he cancelled his lecture and went down to see it with the rest of the crowd—and they say professors aren't human and don't even know that Christmas is coming.

Before we close, we'd like to tell a certain Engineer that this column is called Red Shorts and not Pink Shorts.

Housewife—Yeah. Tell me a couple.

Outing Club Meets Thurs.

Future Activities Will Be Discussed

The McGill Outing Club opens the season with its first meeting of the year this Thursday evening at 8.00 p.m. in the Union Ballroom. An interesting program has been arranged for the evening which includes some fine movies of skiing, to be followed by dancing downstairs in the Grill Room.

Up until three years ago the only organized skiing body was the McGill Ski Club which has since become the McGill Outing Club. This club was formed to sponsor ski tours, a Park Slide Night, and to run the Inter-Company Ski Meets. The graduation of most of McGill Ski Team of last year in June left any formal organization on an unsteady basis.

NEW CONSTITUTION

This fall a few enthusiasts have been quietly building up a sound organization with a constitution drawn from the combined experience of several of the strongest Outing Clubs in the New England Colleges. Open to all members of the student body, its purpose is twofold, to sponsor and encourage outdoor activities, not otherwise provided for by the Athletics Council and to foster competitive skiing. In the future the scope of the M.O.C. will not be confined to the winter season alone, but will also include the promotion of general camping, hiking, rock climbing and other similar out-door activities.

EXECUTIVE NAMED

The organization consists of a General Council of twenty-five representing the various years and faculties of the University, which will direct the club policies. The powers of the Club will be vested in an Executive Board of nine, drawn from the General Council, including among others, a director of publicity, a chairman of trips and trails, the men's ski manager, and the women's ski manager. The assistant managers, the leaders of the individual Outing Club tours and various other officials will be taken from the General Council. The management of the Club's activities will in this way be assigned to a limited number, the Executive Board, whose individual responsibilities have been defined; for the assistance they will require from time to time they will draw upon the remaining members of the General Council. This year's Executive includes:—

Honorary President .....
....Mr. H. Smith Johannsen.
President ..... Reed Hyde.
Secretary ..... Joan Anderson.
Treasurer ..... Jack Bailley.
Membership and Equipment.
Chairman ..... Earl Morris.
Men's Ski Manager . C. D. Townsend.
Women's Ski Manager . Betty Smith.
Chairman of Trips and Trails
..... John Brett.
Director of Publicity ... Bill Braye.
Membership and Equipment
Chairman—To be elected from R.V.C.

On Thursday night the meeting will include the enrollment of members and the sale of badges. Vacancies on the General Council are to be filled. Among other topics to be discussed will be a proposed list of tours for this winter, ski instructions for beginners, and plans for competitive skiers. The meeting is open to any one interested.

League Openers Get Underway in Gym at 5.15 p.m.

The Intramural basketball schedule opens this afternoon, after considerable delay due to a rearrangement of teams. It was decided that some platoons were not capable of fielding full teams, so a system was devised whereby representation is divided evenly throughout the various companies.

Basketball at McGill enjoyed its best year last season as a result of the Intercompany and Interplatoon competition, which brought out the mediocre players and the bad players, as well as those who would have played on the Intercollegiate squads in normal times. The result was that general ability at basketball was greatly improved, although the specialists probably suffered from lack of personal coaching.

TEAMS PRACTICE

From all indications, this season will see an equal if not increased interest in basketball. Already organized teams are to be seen holding regular practices on the Gym floor, preparing seriously to win those games and earn points for Company totals. The Medical students in particular have been notorious for steady preparation, which undoubtedly is a major factor in their consistently high standing in the basketball league.

Most Companies have completed the requisite number of teams, but a few still remain to be organized. Although platoons are not represented as such in the league, they form the nuclei for the company teams. Thus teams will be designated as, for example, C1, C2, C3, and not at Platoons 12, 13, 14, etc.

GAMES TODAY

McGill Coeds Triumph In Archery Tournament

The coed archers from McGill and Macdonald College held a second tournament on Saturday, November 22, in the lower R.V.C. gym; the result being another victory for the red and white team. Though both teams scored lower than in the previous competition, McGill finished well ahead with a score of 734 to the visiting team's total of 660.

Three rounds were run off, and competitors shot six arrows each round from a distance of twenty to thirty yards. At Macdonald the tournament was stiffer—a distance of forty yards having been set, but the size of the R.V.C. gym made shooting at a closer range necessary.

Because of a misunderstanding concerning the date of the inter-collegiate telegraphic meet (which took place on November 8) McGill was left out of this competition. The archers expected the meet to be held several days later than was the case, and were unable to get a team ready in time. This was quite a disappointment, as the girls have been planning and practising for this event for some time.

The girls making up Saturday's teams were:

McGill—M. Harris, M. Carmichael, E. Johnston, S. Farquharson, G. Nassif, T. Umanski, J. Clague.

Macdonald — B. Cherry, M. MacFarlane, M. McHilary, S. Miller, E. Tait, J. Planche.

"Oh, I just love nature!" gushed the dowager with more than the usual number of shoulder-straps and chins.

"That's loyalty," mused Groucho Marx, "after what nature did to her!"

A Coy. Win Harrier Meet by Large Margin

A Company has already profited considerably from the rearrangement of M.R.T.B. Companies. B Company, who walked off with first place in the Intercompany Harrier Meet, have handed over their 37 points for that event to A Company, leaving that unit with a big margin over their nearest rival in the distance running affair. They now have 67 points to C Company's 34.

The preponderance of points in one company is largely due to the fact that Captain Joe Berman and Dunlop winner Cowan ended up on the same team, and were backed up by two other members of the team, Maurice Godine and Bob MacIntosh, along with several dark horse runners. With the basketball season approaching, A Company men are to be seen laughing up their sleeves as they think of the additional Med players, who are standouts in that game.

Intramural Athletics Council Meets Tonight

The Intramural Athletic Council will hold its second monthly meeting tonight in the Athletics Office at 5.00 p.m. at which various difficulties in the Intercompany sports situation will be straightened.

The company representatives from the six companies of the M.R.T.B., the C.O.T.C., the Air Force and Macdonald College will be represented at the meeting and any sports difficulties will be brought up.

It is the plan of the Athletic Office to hold these meetings of the Intramural Athletic Council monthly and to space the meetings so that they will fall between the meetings of the Athletics Council.

The company sports representatives to attend tonight's meeting are as follows: A Company—Jas. McKee; C Company—T. L. Davies; D Company—G. Hawker; E Company—R. Freeman; F Company—W. Parkinson; G Company—E. Walter; Independents—H. Graves; Macdonald College—R. A. Chapman; C.O.T.C.—T. L. Chown; Air Force—Flt. Sgt. F. Horton.

Glee Clubs Will Sing Together

Joint Rehearsal To Be Held for The First Time

At five fifteen this evening the Mens' and Womens' Glee Clubs will hold their first joint meeting of the year in the Union Ballroom. The principal object of this meeting is to give the two groups some practice in singing together, in case the War Council should at any time call upon their services in any capacity.

In an interview yesterday evening, the president of the Mens' Glee Club stated that he had heard some rumours that his club, in conjunction with the Womens' Glee Club, might in the near future be called upon to give some form of musical entertainment, for a project sponsored by the War Council. Anything of this type, he thought, would probably require both mens' and Womens' voices.

Therefore rather than take any chance of being caught unprepared, the two clubs are getting together for a joint rehearsal so as to be in a position to give the best that they are able at short notice, should the need arise.

Debating Club to Meet In Music Room of Union

The standing committee of the Debating Union Society will meet today in the Music Room of the McGill Union at 5 p.m. sharp.

Owing to the fact that the newly elected president, Ernest Skutezky formerly held the position of Treasurer, his election to the new office automatically annulled his former post, and therefore the society will have to hold an election for a new treasurer.

At the meeting, the members will discuss the year's program of activities and also anything that may come up with regard to the International Debate. It will also set a date for the Mock Parliament.

Ernest Skutezky, the president has requested the following to be present at the meeting: Ruth Hill, Ivy Lawrence, Marion Savage, John Toller, Lloyd Henderson, George McColm and Malcolm McAfee.

English Department of the University of Toronto. Educated in Upper Canada College, he obtained his Bachelor's degree from Trinity College in 1915, his Master's Degree in 1916, and was London Gold Medalist in Physics and received the Governor General's medal for highest standing. He received his second Master's Degree from Harvard in 1917 and his Doctor's degree in 1920. He received a Doctor's Degree from Cambridge in 1922, and studied with Rankin in Germany in 1910.

He is noted for his work with the British Admiralty in the last war and has done extensive research on an oscillographs, piezo-electricity and geo-physics. At the outbreak of this war he was engaged in constructing an electron microscope, but was interrupted in order to direct the radio mechanic's course of R.C.A.F. He is also in charge of registration of men with research qualifications for the Department of Labour at Ottawa in connection with the war-time personnel.

"ex officio," the Vice President of the Women's Union. Other ex-officio members of the Council are, the President of the Students' Society, the President of the Union, the President of the Women's Union, and the Editor-in-chief of the McGill Daily.

The Students' Executive Council regulates all undergraduate activities, and carries out the policy of the Students' Society, to which all undergraduate students, men and women, registered in the University, belong. In addition, the Council acts as an intermediary between the student body and the University.

A function of the Executive Council, which it is not called upon very often to perform, is that of being a court to try cases of misdemeanour by students.

Among the activities which are directly controlled by the Council are, the Daily, the Union, the Employment Bureau, the Book Exchange, and the Band. It also publishes the Students' Directory and the McGill Handbook.

versities. The scarlet tie, patch and crest are the identification of the McGill Detachment, and the pin worn on the cap is the sign of the Red Cross.

The eighty McGill cadets who wear the uniform have promised loyalty to the discipline and regulations of the Corps and have pledged themselves to a course of training whereby they may be ready to give national service in both peace and war.

Training during this term has consisted of lectures on the history of the Red Cross and on the organization of the Canadian Army (since in war time the Red Cross Society works closely with the Armed Forces); map reading, and military drill. It is hoped that before the end of the first term the issuing of the uniforms will be completed and that the Detachment will have reached a degree of training sufficient for its first inspection.

As there is a very limited supply of chess boards and men in the Union, members are advised to bring their own equipment to the meeting if possible. Refreshments will be served during the meeting, and hence there will be an admission charge of ten cents.

The club tournament this year will be held on a knock-out basis until the quarter final round is reached, after which it will be conducted as a round robin.

of the question under discussion, the Executive of the Debating Union Society has requested a large turn-out for the evening.

The American team is on a debating trip, and will arrive at McGill on Thursday night just before the activities begin. After they have finished, said the president of the Debating Union, the geusts will be entertained in "the usual manner."

Schedules have been made for further intercollegiate debates throughout the year, and plans have also been made for a bi-lingual debate. The regular class and interclass debates will start soon in all faculties.

Grid Gossip.

It seems as if the wolves down Toronto way have been after Lew Hayman, and blame the Argos demise on Maoning Lew. That's the way it is on the sports scene. Produce a winner and your a genius; let your team fail, and your a bum. And because a young half-back fumbled a snap at the crucial moment with seconds remaining, and set the scene for McWatter's deadline punt, Lew is on the outs with the Torontonians.

The Argos, though, have played the flashiest type of football, even if not the most victorious, seen in Eastern Canada over a period of years, and their Hayman inspired playing was conclusive proof that the Canadian rules could produce a dashing and spectator pleasing type of game. Trimble's Tanks would crush their opposition, but Hayman's Hipper-dippers would have the crowd standing up and gaping at their intricate plays. Hayman has held in the past, and will continue to hold in the future, a prominent place in Canadian football—if not in Toronto, then in some other city.

I don't suppose anybody has survived this far, but to those who didn't know any better, 'bye now, and remember the 'Mouth Maulers Brawl' this Saturday.

ing solutions to the foregoing questions in such a way that approximate equality of sacrifice is demanded of all the people. This equality of sacrifice, said Dr. James, will have the effect of "building morale—the most potent 'secret weapon' known to man."

Dr. James discussed the new controls set up over prices and wages by recent Orders in Council, and he made several criticisms of the existing plans, with a view to contributing to their efficiency. In closing, he emphasized the importance of every Canadian citizen's realizing his part in aiding the war effort by abiding by these regulations.

In Dr. James' words, "Canadian industrialists have brothers who man the corvettes on the Atlantic, Canadian merchants remember their sons who are fighting in the skies above Britain, and Canadian consumers are the families of men on active service. All of us are engaged in a common task, and there can be no doubt that every individual will co-operate to carry it into successful operation."

dollars, and they may be obtained at their orderly room.

Decorations will take the better part of the day on the fifth, and taking them down will also take some time on the following Saturday, and so M.R.T.B. parades have been cancelled for those two days.

Same Arrangement

The floor arrangement will provide a square dancing space in the centre of the floor, flanked by tables at both ends of the gym, while Sewell's men will be stationed at the north wall of the dance floor. This, it was said, has been the most successful arrangement at all dances held in the gym last year.

Tickets are on sale at the superintendents' offices in all the buildings on the campus, at the Tuck Shop in the Union, and may also be obtained from members of the committee: Bill Stewart, Bob Kingsland, Joe Connoly, Joan Storey, Sheila Farquharson, Charley Perreault, Charles Mannings, Cameron Walsh, and R. Stewart Willis.
